Light in the Darkness

After 3 ankle injuries and years of suffering, I had resigned myself to living in pain. One night while watching Ministry Now, a speaker suddenly said someone watching needed healing in both ankles. I claimed it! Since then, the pain is gone, and even through Alberta's harsh winter, I've had no flare-ups. This unexpected miracle reminded me that God sees us, even in the little things. I'm so grateful. Thank you, Daystar, for being part of my healing journey.

CONFRONTING THE ANTICHRIST SPIRIT

with Joseph Z

What is “the spirit of Elijah,” and why is it so critical for the Church to understand and activate it in this generation?

JZ: The spirit of Elijah is defined as standing against the oppression of an evil regime while operating in generational cooperation. This narrative of generational cooperation is not limited to a single era. Still, it spans across generations, seeing the will of God and His people come to pass in a multigenerational capacity. It’s a larger, enduring narrative that we, as believers, are part of.

When we consider all the Scripture references regarding the spirit of Elijah, it becomes clear that this term, often used in pop culture Christianity, has a deeper significance. My purpose for using the phrase “spirit of Elijah” is to define the familiar conflict of national and even global powers that seek to usurp the authority given by God for the good of humanity. It’s about activating those who would rise with a word from God to oppose such forces.

As a prophet, Elijah was not only tasked with enforcing God’s will in his generation but also with passing on a generational anointing. This act of generational empowerment, symbolized by the transfer of his mantle to Elisha, ensured that the spirit of Elijah would continue to influence and guide future generations.

Ultimately, the spirit of Elijah is a spirit of reformation working through the Church at large that confronts cultural evil while also healing a generation through turning the hearts of fathers and children toward one another. Jesus said this would circumvent the curse. John the Baptist carried the spirit of Elijah and was anointed to announce the first coming of Jesus. The spirit of Elijah is upon the church today as it also prepares the way for the second coming of Jesus.

How is the spirit of Elijah uniquely equipped to confront deception, both in the world and within the Church?

JZ: The spirit of Elijah is uniquely designed to confront the spirit of the age. Elijah carried an uncontrollable and unmanageable anointing to confront the deception. When darkness sows evil and refuses to repent, it eventually reaps a reformer! This is what Elijah was, and this is what the Church has been since the very beginning, as seen in the statement from Acts 17:16, where those who turn the world upside down are described. Alternatively, one might say that the system of the culture is turned upside down. Like Elijah in his day, we, the Ekklesia, are called to restrain the forces of evil and through our faith bring the world or that system to its knees. First John 5:4 states, “For whatever is born of God overcomes the world.” The Message translation says it this way, “...the conquering power that brings the world to its knees is our faith...” The Greek word for “world” here is the word kosmos, which means the public or society. When the Church moves in faith, confronting the evils of society, it does so through faith and cooperates with the same spirit that operated in both Elijah (confronting the evils of his day) and John the Baptist (preparing the way for the coming of Jesus). The Church today continues in the spirit of Elijah, as we prepare the way for the return of Jesus once again.

How can believers recognize the Antichrist spirit—and where is it showing up most?

JZ: The spirit of Antichrist is just that, a spirit, not to be confused with the Antichrist or the “man of sin.” This evil spirit operates by controlling world powers through systems of oppression. Examples can be found in instances such as the authoritarian overreach that nearly everyone experienced to some extent during the 2020 pandemic. A biblical example of an antichrist spirit at work is seen in the Pharisees, who deferred to Herod’s authority to intimidate Jesus as He was doing His ministry. Jesus’ response was to call Herod a fox, letting the evil ruler know the kingdom would advance regardless of the intimidation of the religious system or the government. (See Luke 13:32.)

You talk about breaking the Antichrist spirit. What does that actually look like in a believer’s life?

JZ: In the believer’s life, fear is to have no place. The spirit of Antichrist desires to put believers into a place of fear and intimidation, rendering the potency of the believer into a place of stepping back from being a force for good and justice. Hebrews 10:38 says, “If anyone draws back, My soul has no pleasure in him.” Meaning, when we retreat from the walk of faith and influence on the culture, it is not pleasing to the Lord. We are to rise in our walk of faith with the finished works of Jesus operating in our lives as a counter to the powers of darkness. When we do this, we become the Ekklesia that does not allow the gates of hell to prevail.

Many are sensing a shaking within the Church. Could this be the beginning of an Elijah-style confrontation—where God is exposing what’s been hidden and calling His people back to truth, holiness, and spiritual authority?

JZ: Elijah came and called the people of God to repentance, and this is what we are seeing today. This is nothing new, as 1 Peter 4:17 states, “For the time has come for judgment to begin in the house of God.” One reason judgment begins in the house of God is so that the Church can be a potent force against the spirit of the age. As a response, the Church should embrace repentance, humility, and the types of restoration outlined in Galatians 6:1. God is exposing what’s been hidden and calling His people back to truth, holiness, and spiritual authority. In the process, however, the devil is aware that he cannot beat the Church, so he finds ways to join it, through pharisaical behavior, fault-finding, and keeping the Church from walking out Galatians 6:1, which says, “Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness, considering yourself lest you also be tempted.” Restoring begins with genuine repentance. This is the primary reason for exposure: not to destroy but to restore those who have been harmed and victimized as well as those who repent and fall on the authority of church leadership.
