After 67 years, I have finally received Jesus! Today, while watching Daystar, I received salvation and truly felt set free from shame. Now Jesus lives in me! I will thank God forever that He cared that much for even me. Thank you for praying for me and for sharing stories that help people like me hear the truth in a way we can believe. The best is yet to come!

WHEN GOD STEPS IN

with Dr. Robert Jeffress

Where did the phrase "Divine Invasions" come from, and what do you mean when you say God "invades" our lives?

RJ: As I began to study the topic of biblical miracles, I realized we use the term "miracle" all the time today. We have Miracle Whip, Miracle-Gro, Miracle Wipes, and so forth. Everything's a miracle. So in this book, I use the phrase "divine invasions" to refer to those times when God intervenes in our lives with supernatural power or protection or provision or physical healing.

Divine invasions don't happen every day, but they're more common than you may realize. Think about it:

- Can you look back and see a supernatural answer to prayer in your life?
- Can you recall when somebody spoke exactly the word of encouragement you needed to hear at that time?
- Can you look back at something in your life that appeared to be a coincidence, but the more you thought about it, you realized it had to be the hand of God?

That's what I'm referring to in the book when I talk about "divine invasions."

A lot of Christians privately wonder whether the age of miracles is over—that maybe God worked that way in biblical times, but things are different now. How do you respond to that doubt?

RJ: I understand why some Christians think the days of miracles are over. When I was in college and seminary, many of my professors taught that since we have the Bible now, God doesn't do miracles anymore. But after decades of ministry as a pastor, I've seen enough real-life divine invasions to convince me beyond a shadow of a doubt that God is still in the miracle-working business.

But I do believe there's one thing about the way God does miracles that has changed since biblical times. As Dr. Criswell used to say, "I believe in faith healing; I just don't believe in faith healers." I think God no longer uses intermediaries to perform miracles. He's eliminated the middleman, so to speak. Today, God works miracles directly in our lives according to His will.

TODAY, GOD WORKS MIRACLES DIRECTLY IN OUR LIVES ACCORDING TO HIS WILL.

What do you say to the person who has prayed faithfully and is still waiting—or has stopped believing God will answer?

RJ: This is a tender subject, and I can't possibly give a complete answer in the next few seconds to someone who is deeply hurting—so please, I encourage you to get the book and read the chapter where I go into detail about why sometimes the miracles we pray for don't come and how we are to respond when that happens. But the main thing I would say right now to the person who is waiting for a miracle is this: Miracles delayed aren't miracles denied.

One day when we are united with Jesus Christ in heaven, we will experience the fulfillment of every miracle we have ever longed for. Everyone who places their faith in Jesus Christ will be ultimately healed when we are in the physical presence of the Lord, and then we'll experience the ultimate divine invasion.

You write that God can supernaturally give us peace even when He chooses not to change our circumstances. Can you unpack that idea?

RJ: God is able to work a miracle in your life, if He chooses to do so. But even if He chooses not to, God is still actively at work in your life through a different kind of divine invasion—He unleashes His supernatural power in giving you peace so that you can endure your circumstances. That's not some kind of "pie-in-the-sky" thinking to make you feel better—that's a rock-solid promise God gives us in His Word.

The Bible says that when Jesus was crucified, His suffering on the cross produced peace and healing for everyone who places their faith in Him. Isaiah 53:5 (KJV) puts it this way: "He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed."

Because Jesus took the punishment of God's discipline, which was ours to bear, you and I can experience the miracle of God's supernatural peace no matter our circumstances.

You have a chapter specifically warning readers about counterfeit miracles. Why was it important to you to include that, and what should believers be watching out for?

RJ: I think it's important for believers to remember that we are part of a very real spiritual battle today. As Ephesians 6:12 says, "our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the powers, against the world forces of this darkness, against the spiritual forces of wickedness in the heavenly places" where Satan rules. And in 2 Thessalonians 2:9, Paul warns us to avoid falling for deceptive "signs and false wonders." Just because something looks impressive and inexplicable doesn't automatically mean it's divine; it could be demonic.

How can we determine whether a miracle is divine or demonic? We have to examine the person performing the so-called miracle. Specifically, we look at two critical aspects about the miracle worker: their message and their motives. In the book, I show you how to do that.

For a reader who is in a hard season right now—maybe facing a health crisis, a broken relationship, or a financial situation that feels impossible—what is the one thing you most want them to take away from this book?

RJ: I want them to come away knowing that God is still in the miracle-working business. Whatever problem you may be facing today, you can go to God and ask Him to divinely intervene in your situation. My hope is that every person who reads Divine Invasions will not only be encouraged by these stories of God's miraculous work in today's world, but that they will also begin asking God for a divine invasion in their own lives as well.

The book closes with what you call a "divine invitation." Without giving everything away, what are you inviting readers into?

RJ: For you to have a divine invasion in your life, you need to, first of all, accept God's great invitation in your life. He promises in Romans 10:9, "If you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you will be saved." And God will begin working in your life in ways you cannot possibly imagine. This is the divine invitation we all need to accept to experience God's divine invasions in our lives.

DIVINE INVASIONS

Dr. Robert Jeffress

Have you ever faced a situation that seemed impossible and wondered, "God, where are You in this?"

Throughout the Bible, we see moments when God suddenly steps into human circumstances and changes everything. A sea parts. A prayer is answered. An impossible battle turns into victory. Hope appears when there seems to be no way forward. These are the kinds of moments Dr. Robert Jeffress explores in his new book, Divine Invasions.

With his practical, Scripture-based teaching, Dr. Jeffress looks at the extraordinary ways God intervenes in the lives of His people and what those biblical accounts can teach us about trusting Him today. His message offers encouragement for anyone who has been praying, waiting, or believing God to move in a situation that feels beyond their control.

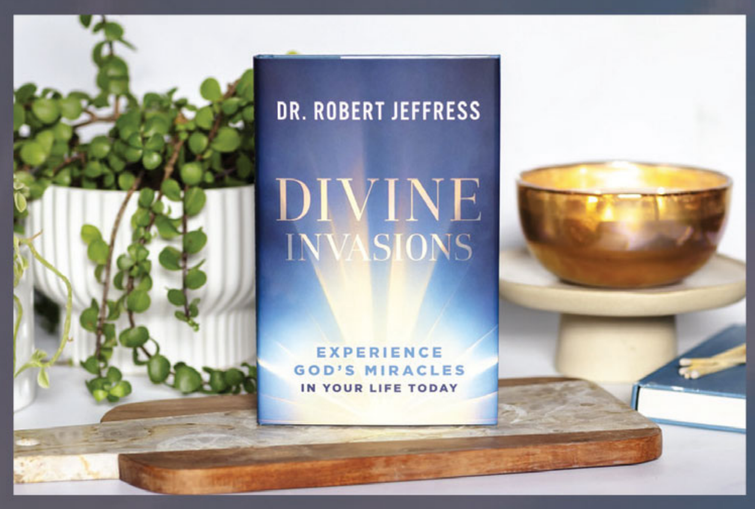

Maybe you are believing for healing in your family, restoration in a relationship, a financial breakthrough, or direction for an uncertain future. Divine Invasions will encourage you to recognize that God is never limited by what you can see. He is able to open doors, change circumstances, answer prayers, and work in ways we could never accomplish on our own.

This book is also an important reminder that God's activity is not limited to dramatic miracles. Sometimes His intervention comes through an unexpected opportunity, a perfectly timed conversation, an answer we never anticipated, or the quiet assurance that He is with us in the middle of the storm. Learning to recognize His hand can transform the way we approach difficult seasons.

At Daystar, we want to continually put resources into your hands that strengthen your faith and help you stay anchored in God's Word. That's why we're excited to share Divine Invasions with our partners this month.

When you give a special gift of $25 or more to Daystar, we'll send you a copy of Dr. Robert Jeffress's Divine Invasions as our way of saying thank you. Your partnership helps us continue sharing the Gospel and bringing biblical truth, hope, and encouragement to people around the world.

Whatever you may be believing God for today, let Divine Invasions remind you to keep praying, keep trusting, and keep watching for the ways God may be at work. Your circumstances may feel impossible, but they are never beyond His reach.

From the Heart of Daystar

RACHEL LAMB BROWN

Dear Daystar Partners and Friends,

As I sit down to write this letter, I'm thinking about the thousands of Daystar partners around the world who will be reading it. Some of you have faithfully stood with us for decades, while others just joined the Daystar family during Heart for the World. Wherever you are and however long you've been with us, I want you to know how incredibly grateful we are for you!

This year's Heart for the World was especially meaningful as it was our first without Mom and Dad. Their absence was deeply felt, but so was God's faithfulness. We have never doubted the vision He placed in their hearts, and your response was beyond anything we could have imagined! What an encouragement to see that the mission they gave their lives to is continuing to grow and reach new people. The vision is moving forward, and I believe we're just getting started!

This month, I want to share just two ways your generosity is changing lives right now.

Daystar Prison Ministry was something Mom was incredibly passionate about. She believed that even in someone's darkest moment, an encounter with Jesus could change everything. Today, Daystar is available in more than 950 correctional facilities across 46 states, reaching nearly 700,000 prison tablets. We've already seen over 7 million views and 3,000 documented salvations! Just think about that. Thousands of people finding new life in Jesus, even behind prison walls! And if someone you love is incarcerated, Daystar would be honored to send them a free Bible.

During Heart for the World, we also partnered with Across Nigeria to bring hope to Christians facing devastating persecution. Because of your giving, we funded the construction of a widows' center that will serve 570 women whose husbands have been martyred for the Gospel. This center will provide medical care, grief counseling, trauma support, prayer, ministry, and ongoing encouragement. Please keep these precious women and those serving them in your prayers.

These are just two examples, but there is so much more happening than I could ever fit into one letter. You may never personally visit these prisons or travel to Nigeria, but you are part of every life being touched through these ministries. Your generosity is helping the lost find Jesus, bringing comfort to the hurting, and giving hope to people who desperately need it.

Thank you for believing in this mission and continuing to carry it forward with us. As my dad always said, "Partners make it possible," and together, we're making an eternal difference!

With sincere gratitude, love, and appreciation,

My newborn granddaughter was in the intensive care unit, so I called the Daystar Prayer Line and Diana prayed with me. Our granddaughter was released from the hospital and is now home with all of us! Praise Jesus—the Lord healed her! Thank you so much, Daystar Prayer Team, for helping people around the world.

Dilma from Puerto Rico

Years ago, my son had gone down a dark path. I was so worried that I stayed home from work and cried. I had Daystar on when Joni suddenly said she felt the Lord wanted her to pray for a mother whose son had gone astray. I couldn't believe it! Her prayer gave me peace and hope. I knew God loved me and my son. Years later, everything is fine! I'll never forget that pivotal moment when the Holy Spirit spoke through Joni. She will be dearly missed.
